CARE AND HANDLING FOR FLATWARE

1. New flatware should be washed before placed in service to remove any remaining polishing compound.
2. Chemical Watch - Avoid all presoak and dishwasher cleaning compounds that contain bleach, chlorine and/or sulphur.
3. Presoak - Use a plastic or stainless steel pan with a non-abrasive compound (NEVER use aluminum pan). Soak no longer than 10-15 minutes. Use hot water and maintain it so - replace cool water as frequently as necessary.
4. Washing - Place flatware in round plastic cylinders, like items together, handles down, packed loosely. Recommended temperature is no less than 180 degrees.
5. Warning - Low Temperature Dishwashing - Avoid an overconcentration of sodium hypochlorite (bleach), the active agent of these systems. Follow manufacturers instructions to minimize this possibility. Use a water softener if hard water exists.
6. Rinsing - Rinse in clean, hot water. A water softener is recommended if hard water exists.
7. Drying - Following rinsing, dry items at once.
8. Storage - Store in dry area away from corrosive materials. Maintain upright in round canisters.
9. Knife Care - Due to the metal content of all knives, special care is needed. Always wash immediately, do not leave wet and avoid "Rinse and Hold" cycle. Never leave knives in water overnight. Prolonged contact with water is probably responsible for more pitting trouble than anything else. The highly corrosive effect of tap water, caused by the traces of mineral salts it contains causes damage to the knives.

Why do some knives corrode quicker than other knives? The answer lies in the length of time the blades are wet; knives that are left undried or actually immersed in water overnight can receive, in this time, as much exposure to the corrosive effect of water as three or four months.

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS SPECIFICALLY FOR SILVERPLATED FLATWARE

1. Presoak - Use an aluminum pan or line a plastic or stainless steel pan with aluminum foil. Put a non-abrasive compound in the pan followed by hot water to dissolve. Place in flatware for 10-15 minutes until food is loosened. The presoak should be changed with clean, hot water as frequently as necessary. Dirty presoak contains chlorides which will attack silverplate. The catalytic action between the aluminum foil and cleaning compound will help remove tarnish.
2. Removing tarnish - A regular schedule for removing tarnish must be established to maintain a clean and bright silverplate. Periodic application of silver polish is also recommended.
3. Burnishing - Periodic burnishing will remove nicks and unsightly scratches. Do not burnish tarnished silverplate, knife blades or hollow handle items.

CARE AND HANDLING FOR DINNERWARE

By following these simple suggestions your customer's dinnerware will have a long life and remain attractive. Corby Hall dinnerware has been designed to be functional and durable.

The 3 areas of concern for durability are:

- Edge Chippage (Corby Hall has a 3 year warranty on our dinnerware)
- Breakage
- Glaze wear

Using our recommendations will help your customer in these areas of concern.

CARE AND HANDLING FOR DINNERWARE

1. After use scrape and rack soiled dinnerware.
2. Clean soiled dinnerware 30-45 minutes after use. Do not ever leave soiled dinnerware overnight.
3. Do not overload the bus box or stack china too high in self-leveling dispensers and dish racks.
4. To avoid metal marking and excessive breakage of glassware, separate metal, ceramic and glass items. They should have their own bus box for each category.
5. Use proper pre-soak solution procedure.
6. Do not use metal, abrasive scouring pads or abrasive powders to remove stains.
7. Try to eliminate any metal contact. Use protective matting in the dishwasher area and use plastic racks for cleaning and storage on the line.
8. Simple rule: rack rather than stack.
9. Glaze is a very hard surface so it's easy for items to scratch each other which leads to metal marking. Try to take care when handling your dinnerware.
